

The modern way to bake

The old-fashioned custom of using home-made mixtures to raise cakes and biscuits is now antiquated.

Royal Baking Powder is so much more dependable. It contains just the right proportions of cream of tartar and soda to raise baked foods perfectly.

If you are one of those who are still using home-made mixtures, join the majority of women who have learned from experience that it is much more satisfactory to use

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., set at work some years ago to find a real internal Pile remedy. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It's easy to take, and can always be found at W. L. Gokay's, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—Advertisement.

CLEVER DANCER COMING

Barbara Bronell with "Listen to Me" Monday Evening

From college to the leading role in a Metropolitan musical show in three short years sounds like a big jump, but listen to what follows: Little Barbara Bronell, walked out the University of Washington, following her graduation and then and there decided to go on the stage. She lived in Spokane, Washington a thriving Western city, but one that held little in hope for a professional engagement. Upon her return home she learned that Julian Ellinge and company were to play at the Auditorium the following night. Alert to take advantage of the opportunity, she met Mr. Ellinge, who listened to her story and suggested that she meet his stage manager that afternoon.

Her dreams were fulfilled when she was given a try-out, accepted and that night was a full-fledged member of the professional company. It was all new to her at first, but she soon learned the new routine in life and went along her way making friends and receiving her share of flattering newspaper notices.

Dancing was not the only thing she could do well, she possessed a good voice and has developed into a real soubrette. It was only last summer that she was given her first part and "made good" immediately so much so that she was assigned the soubrette role in the musical extravaganza, "Listen to Me," which is coming to the Bennington Opera House, Monday night, November 20.

Not Philanthropy---
Just Good Business

Once in a while a skeptical friend eyes me doubtfully when I tell him he can save time and money if he will make his toll call on a station-to-station basis. When I ask him to speak out, he tells me frankly that he is wondering why I am recommending something that will decrease our toll revenue. The fact is, as I explain to him, I expect that his compliance with my suggestion will increase our toll revenue and save us time and money, too.

Here's why: Station-to-station toll service is simply an extension of the "call by number" practice of local service. A few years ago we extended this "call by number" practice to short-haul toll calls—calls of 15 to 25 miles. It worked so successfully that we are now applying that practice to toll calls to any point in the country. Over 80 per cent of our toll business is now being handled in this way.

It enables us to handle a larger number of calls over a given circuit, thus saving construction costs. It enables us to save the time of operators, thus saving operating costs. We can and do, therefore, pass on to subscribers a saving of at least 20 per cent, and up to 75 per cent in many cases, on toll calls made on the station-to-station basis as against the old-fashioned person-to-person method.

But my friend says: "I want to talk with Mr. So-and-so, and he may be out." That contingency is worth considering, of course. However, when I ask: "Where would you expect to find Mr. So-and-so during business hours?" My friend unhesitatingly replies: "Why, at his office"—or at his bank or his factory as the case may be. Of course, that's where a business man usually is found these days—sticking pretty close to his business.

That's why our station-to-station method of handling toll calls has grown so rapidly in the favor of business men who have tested it and found that it would—and does—save them time and money. And because it makes it easy for them to do business—because it is speedier and more economical than the old method—they have given us more and more of their business to handle. It's not philanthropy with us, therefore,—it's good business to recommend station-to-station toll service.

Test it for yourself. Make a call for the number or the listed name of some person or concern, simply adding that you will talk with anyone, to indicate that you desire the station-to-station rate, and see if you are not able to reach the person you want, or someone who can satisfactorily act for him.

If you don't know the number, simply give the name and address and our toll operators will make the connection so quickly you will be surprised and pleased at the result.

W. E. BISSELL, Manager.
